I know that some things in this world are not meant to be seen although these such things are only known as ether myth or legend but the one and only thing I never thought to come across are vampires commonly people would think of them as monsters that kill without shame but that all change when I met someone who just happens to be one of them even if it means becoming one of them

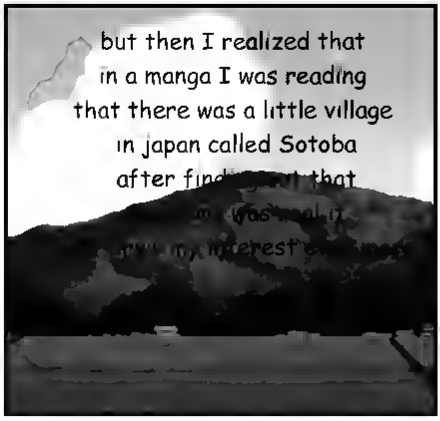
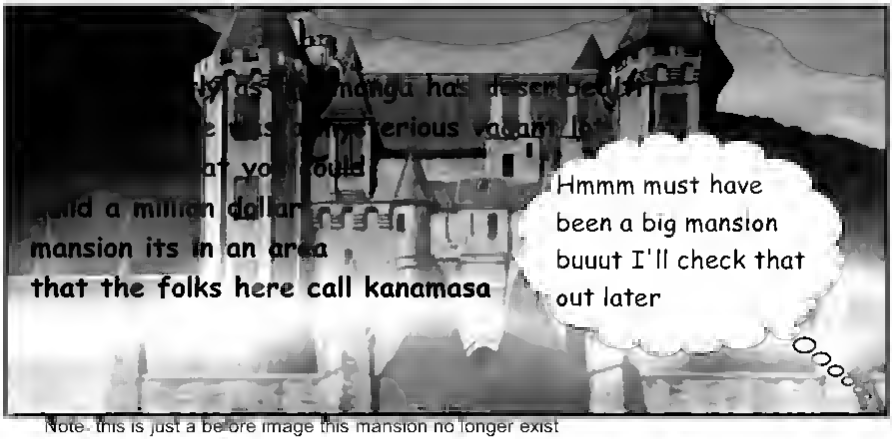
It was a nice warm sunny day after working two years at a janitorial service job I manage to save up enough money at first I was thinking of moving to Tokyo



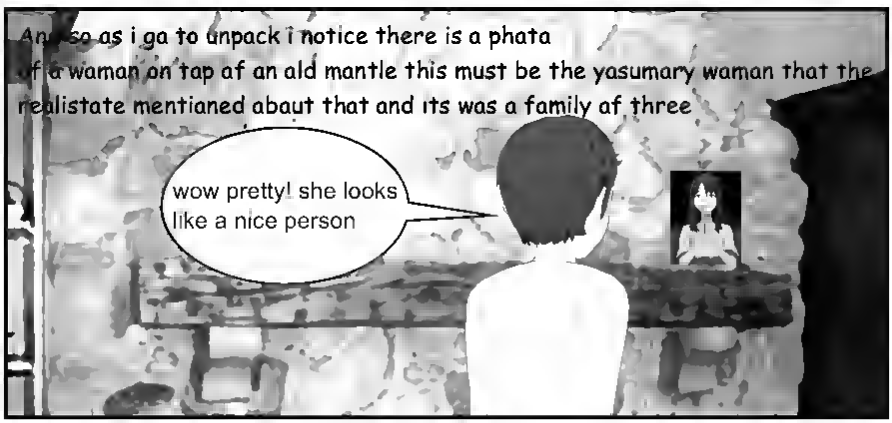


Note- this is just a before image this mansion no longer exist

I hope the house looks better than it did on the ad

EH?!

I could have sworn it looked better in the ad oh well a house is a house!



And so as i go to unpack i notice there is a phata of a waman on tap af an ald mantle this must be the yasumary waman that the realistate mentianed abaut that and its was a family af three wow pretty! she looks like a nice person

My Life As a Vampire

By Bryan Woods